

What they say about Us:

"It was great meeting GMPG's auditor and talking motors! He was very informative and knew exactly what we are doing and why we are doing it."

Chad Bahrs
Acme Armature Works, Inc,
Sheboygan, WI

"Thanks for doing your auditing as you do. We gained, not only from our pre-audit work, but even more from GMPG auditor's process comments. Even though we thought we did a good job in our repair practices, the Accreditation process and the auditor's personal efforts made us even better."

George Flolo
The Flolo Corporation,
West Chicago, IL

"Thank you for the exceptional service your company provided while auditing our company. We found the experience to be informative and comprehensive. We look forward to working with you in the future to continually improve our AC electric motor repair process and EASA Accreditation standards."

Kevin J Miller
Apparatus Repair and Engineering,
Hagerstown, MD

"GMPG's auditor shared a wealth of industry knowledge, guiding us through the Accreditation process from start to finish. He took the time to understand the needs of our shop, providing impeccable service and support. The results transformed a seemingly insurmountable tedious endeavor into a straight-forward, informative, and rewarding process."

Give us a call for your "NO cost, NO obligation" Easa Accreditation audit estimate.

Our Key Advantage:

In addition to having experience in motor service center auditing, our auditors have many years firsthand motor service center experience managing and working on the shop floor. We intimately understand and appreciate the motor repair/rewind process.

About Us:

Established in 2006 the Green Motors Practices Group (GMPG) is a non-profit association developed and exclusively governed by volunteer electric motor service center leaders from British Columbia to Florida. We provide motor service center process verification and administrate a utility energy saving rewind initiative.
